The Haydn & Rollett joinery team walked a fine line on this new kitchen for downtown Auckland's 1920s Administrator House, creating a modern, highly functional space that harmonises with its heritage surroundings.

The kitchen cabinetry is simple and elegant, with the acrylic soft touchboard surfaces set off by handles that mirror the leadlight of the kitchen's original windows. Stone benchtops and subway tiles complete the look. Inside the floor-to-ceiling bank of cupboards, an internal cupboard provides access to wiring for a large TV screen that hangs on the other side of the wall.
