No prizes for guessing the showpiece of this joinery project for a home in Auckland's eastern suburbs. From the start, the client stressed that the kitchen island had to 'pop', and Haydn & Rollett's joinery department duly obliged. The result is a monumental feature island that looks like it has been hewn out of solid rock, enhanced by wonderfully angled front panel. The Tundra Grey

Limestone is echoed in the splashback, contrasted by dark timber cabinetry. Elsewhere, the team brought the same precision and care to a bathroom vanity, laundry, recessed desks and wardrobes.
